Read the following text:

Children in Japan are the best in the world at reading and maths! The students who finish the exercises first teach their classmates. Children around the world usually learn between 26 and 33 letters, but Japanese children learn more than two hundred symbols a year!

In France, schools are very modern. Many children use computers during their lessons. At school, students learn how to read, write and solve maths problems, but they also learn how to prevent accidents and how to save a person's life in case of emergency. At the end of primary school, they receive a certificate.
